

Keep Loudoun Beautiful

Loudoun County is truly beautiful including its mountainous view, rivers, parks and animals. I love the glorious view of the mountainous land in the distance. I really enjoy the soothing sound of the Potomac river surrounded by Loudoun County's green parks full of wondrous animals.

Unfortunately, pollution and littering are two big problems on Earth. These days many people use fertilizer and pesticides to keep their grass in good condition. Any chemicals such as fertilizer and pesticides will eventually run into Loudoun County's rivers which could leave an animal that drinks or lives in the water seriously ill or it could even lead to death. Another harmful thing humans do is litter. Many people on this Earth will carelessly throw their trash on the ground without even thinking twice about how harmful this is to our environment. It is proven that one million birds and one hundred thousand sea creatures die each year because of all the litter and pollution in our environment.

I will do my part to keep Loudoun County beautiful by using eco-friendly products, recycling, picking up trash, and growing more plants that are native to Virginia. To give a helping hand to animals and insects, I will avoid harmful chemicals. To keep Loudoun County beautiful, I will make sure to recycle plastic and paper and pick up any trash that I spot. Additionally, I can grow plants that are native to Virginia. As you can see Loudoun County is absolutely beautiful including its mountainous view, rivers, parks and animals. I will make sure to use eco-friendly products, recycle, pick up trash, and grow plants that are native to Virginia to keep Loudoun County healthy and beautiful. Let's have a better impact on our environment!
